GENEALOGY.

THE LOVELACE FAMILY AND ITS CONNECTIONS

By J. Hall Pleasants, Baltimore, Md.

BARNE OF LONDON AND WOOLWICH.

The Barne or Barnes family is allied with the Lovelaces of Bethersden through the marriage of Sir William Lovelace<sup>7</sup> (1584-1627), the younger, of Bethersden and Woolwich, with Anne Barne the daughter of Sir William Barne of Woolwich and his wife Anne Sandys, the daughter of Edwin Sandys, successively Bishop of Worcester, Bishop of London and Archbishop of York during the reign of Elizabeth. This Sir William Lovelace<sup>7</sup> and his wife Anne, who were married about 1610, were the parents of, among other children, Richard Lovelace, the poet, Francis Lovelace, governor of New York, and Anne Lovelace who married the Rev. John Gorsuch of Walkern, Herts, from whom sprung the very numerous family of Gorsuch traced in the former volumes of the Virginia Magazine.

The Barne family became very prominent in London and in Wool-wich, Kent, during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, several members being among the "merchant princes" and "merchant adventurers" of this period. Anne (Barne) Lovelace numbers among her immediate ancestors three lord mayors of London.

Although most of the genealogical and biographical details presented in the following sketch of the Barne family have been derived directly by the writer from wills, inquisitions post mortem, and other manuscript sources not previously published, and from early printed works apparently not hitherto quoted, the writer has also made use of the brief Barne chart pedigrees published in the Visitation of London, 1568 (Harl. Soc. i; 25), Hasted's Kent (passim) and the excellent pedigree in Crisp's Visitation of England and Wales (vii; p. 158; and Notes, vii; pp. 121-9).

The Barne arms as given in the Visitation of London, 1568, are: Quarterly: 1st and 4th Azure, three leopards' heads, argent [for Barne]; 2nd and 3rd Argent, a chevron, azure, between three Cornish cloughs sable [for Ashtorpe?]. Crest: On a mound vert an eagle rising argent, beaked and ducally gorged or. Motto: Nec ituide nec temere.

The Barne line is as follows:

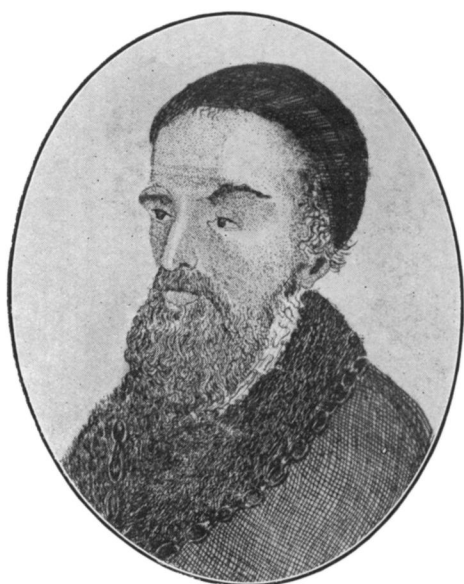

I. George Barne<sup>1</sup> citizen and haberdasher of London; lived in the latter part of the fifteenth and the early part of the sixteenth century. His son was:

II. Sir George Barne<sup>2</sup> (George<sup>1</sup>). Haberdasher, and sheriff of London 1545-1546. Lord mayor of London 1552. Knighted at Whitehall, 11 April, 1553. He married Alice Brooke*, the daughter of ——— Brooke of Shropshire, and sister of Roger Brooke; she was the widow of Richard Relfe, citizen and vintner of London, who was buried at All Hallows', Honey Lane, London. Richard Relfe's will, dated 5 July, 1528, under which his wife Alice was appointed executrix, was proved 28 September, 1528 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Porch, 37). It is said that Sir George Barne was the first merchant adventurer to Barbary, Russia and Genoa, and an incorporator of the first organized English Company for discovery in 1551, and that he was the "principal doer" in sending Sir Hugh Willoughby to the Northeast in 1553, as well as one of the "first four Consuls" of the Merchant Adventurers, 6 February, 1553 (Brown's Genesis of the United States; ii; p. 285). He is mentioned most kindly by Bishop Ridley, the martyr in his farewell letter October 5, 1555 (Works of Nicholas Ridley, D. D.; Parker Society, 1843; 410). He died 18 February, 1557-8, and was "buried at St. Bartholomew—the-Less near the Exchange". "18 Feb. 1557-8. Died Sir George Barnes, Knt., haber-

* The codicil of Alice Barne's will names her brother Roger Brooke, and various Brooke nephews in Shropshire. This Brooke family has not been identified. There is a pedigree of Brooke of Leighton in the adjoining county of Cheshire contained in the Visitation of Cheshire, 1580, in which three individuals named Roger Brooke are given.

dasher, late Mayor of London, viz. at the time of the Queen's coronation [i. e. Mary's, and] On the 24th Sir George Barnes, aforesaid, chief merchant of the Moscovy company, was buried. There was borne the pennon of the Moscovy arms. The Mayor and swordbearer had black gowns, the fourscore poor men were clad in black gowns. There was a standard and five pennons of arms, and coat armour, etc., a goodly hearse of wax. Dr. Chadsey made the sermon on the morrow; and after a great dinner; Mr. Clarencieux and Mr. Lancaster were the heralds". (Strype's Ecclesiastical Memorials, 1827; iii, pt. ii; p. 108). Sir William Barne "dwelt in Bartholomew-lane where Sir William Capel dwelt; and afterwards Mr. Derhame" (Stow's Survey of London and Westminster; 6th ed. 1755; ii; 279). His widow Alice survived him a little over a year. "June the 2d 1559, was buried in Little St. Bartholomew's the lady Barnes, late wife of Sir George Barnes, knight, sometime lord mayor of London. She gave to many poor men and women russet gowns; and to the poor men and women of Calais (now being driven out thence from their habitations, trades, and estates into England, and that in great numbers, were no doubt in great straits). She gave so much apiece in money and an hundred black gowns and coats. There attended the funeral Mr. Clarencieux, and twenty clerks singing afore her to the church, all in English. All the place [i. e. her house] and the streets through which they passed and the church, all being in black and coats of arms. Being come to the church, and the English procession sung, Mr. Horne made a sermon. After that the clerks sung Te Deum in English. Then the corpse was buried with something sung. I suppose it was the versicles beginning Man that is born of a woman, etc." (Strype's Annals of the Reformation, 1824; i; pt. i; p. 2863. An inquisition post mortem upon Sir George Barne's estate was taken at the Guildhall, London, 1 April, 1558 (C. 4 and 5; P. & M., part i, No. 106). His will dated 15 February, 1557-8, and proved 21 March, 1557-8, an abstract of which follows, has not been previously published (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Noodes, 13), nor has the will of his widow Alice Barne, dated 20 September, 1558, and proved 5 July, 1559 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Chapnay 32). A portrait of Sir George Barne which appears in Brown's Genesis (p. 70), is reproduced here.

1. Sir George Barne<sup>3</sup> of Woolwich, Kent, knight. Born about 1525; died 2 January, 1592-3. Married Anne Garrard. See post III.
2. John Barne<sup>3</sup> of Willisden, Middlesex. Will dated 11 February, 1510-11, proved 18 September, 1516 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Rudd, 79). Married Jane Langton daughter of Thomas Langton of Yorkshire. Left issue.
3. Elizabeth Barne<sup>3</sup>. Married Sir John Rivers, knight; citizen and grocer, alderman and lord mayor of London (1673). His will dated 31 January, 1583-4, was proved 10 April, 1584 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Butts, 37). See Visitation of London, 1568 (Harleian Society; i; 7) for the Rivers pedigree.
4. Anne Barne<sup>3</sup>. Her will dated 28 July, 1564, was proved 22 November, 1564 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Stevenson, 32). She married first about 1550 Alexander Carleill [Carlyell], citizen and vintner of London, whose will dated 4 October, 1561, was proved 16 October, 1561 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Loftes, 31). Christopher Carleill,* the

* Christopher Carleill, the distinguished military and naval commander, was the son of Alexander Carleill and his wife Anne Barne. He was born about 1551, and was educated at Cambridge. In 1572 he went to Flushing and was present at the siege of Middleburg. He served under the Prince of Condé at La Rochelle. For five years he "followed the fortune of the Warres in Flanders and by his desert was made a great commander in the States Campe" under the Prince of Orange. He was admiral of the English merchants who went into Russia in 1582. He was interested in discovery, and with his father-in-law, Sir Francis Walsingham, raised a subscription to discover "the coast of America lying to the south-west of Cape Breton". He served brilliantly as lieutenant-general of the land forces under Sir Francis Drake in the celebrated expedition of 1585-1586 to the West Indies, when the cities of San Domingo, Santiago, Carthagenia and St. Augustina were captured. In 1588 he was in Ireland as governor of Ulster. He died 11 Nov. 1593 in London. His wife was living in 1609. She was Mary, the daughter of his stepfather, Sir Francis Walsingham, by his second wife Ursula St. Barbe, the sister of Frances Walsingham, wife of Sir Philip Sidney. (See Dictionary of National Biography and Brown's Genesis of the United States.)

distinguished military and naval commander was their son. She married secondly, Jan. 1562, as his first wife, Sir Francis Walsingham of Barn Elms, Surrey, knight, who became the principal Secretary of State to Queen Elizabeth, and Ambassador at Paris, 1570-1573; he died 6 April, 1590 (See Dictionary of National Biography; lix; 231). Walsingham by his second wife Ursula St. Barbe, whom he married in 1566, had a daughter Frances who married Sir Philip Sidney, and a daughter Mary who married his step-son, Christopher Carleill.

III. Sir George Barne<sup>a</sup> (George<sup>1</sup>, George<sup>2</sup>). Of Woolwich, Kent, and citizen and haberdasher of London. Probably born about 1525, as he was "aged 25 and more" 19 February, 1557-8. He was executor under his mother's will, 1559, and is named in that of his sister Anne Walsingham, 1564. He was sheriff of London, 1576, and lord mayor 1586. He was knighted by the Lord Chamberlain 11 June, 1587 (Shaw's Knights of England; 1906, ii; 85). In his excessive zeal against the catholics Sir George Barne while sheriff of London, was guilty of a serious breach of diplomatic etiquette. On hearing that mass was being celebrated at the house of the Portuguese ambassador, he and the recorder of the city forcibly broke in to put a stop to such evil practices. Although Elizabeth at once apologized and reprimanded the sheriff and the recorder, the ambassador was apparently suspicious of her sincerity and demanded the punishment of the offenders. They were then both imprisoned in the Fleet for a few days. A lengthy account of the episode will be found in Strype's Annals of the Reformation (Vol. ii; pt. ii; pp. 25-30). "Sir George Barne, Mayor 1587; he dwelled in Lombard Street over against the George in the house which was Sir William Chester's and was buried in the church of St. Edmond the King hard by." (Stow's Survey of London and Westminster; 6th ed. 1755; ii; 279). Brown (Genesis of the United States; 825) says that he was interested in Fenton's voyage, 1582-1583, and in Davis's voyage to the Northwest in 1585-1587,, and that John Stowe dedicated the 1587 edition of the Chronicles of England to him. Sir George Barne died at Woolwich, 2 January, 1592-3, and was buried at St. Edmund's, Lombard Street, London. He married, probably about 1565, Anne Garrard the daughter of Sir William Garrard, knight, of Dorney, Bucks, and of London, by his wife, Isabella daughter and co-heir of Julius [Julian] Nethermill of Coventry, Warwickshire. Sir Julian Nethermill's will was proved 1540 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Wills; Alemger, 6). Sir William Garrard* was lord mayor of

No attempt has been made to trace Julyan Nethersmyll of St. Michael, Coventry whose will was probated in 1540 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 6 Alemger), and who was the father of Isabell, wife of Sir William Garrard.

Her first husband was Symon Caryll, and her third husband John Machell.

IV. Sir William Barne<sup>4</sup> (George<sup>1</sup>, George<sup>2</sup>, George<sup>3</sup>), of Woolwich, Kent. Born about 1568, as he was aged 24 and more 28 September 1593, when the inquisition post mortem upon his father's estate was taken. He was knighted at Whitehall 23 July, 1603 (Shaw's Knights of England; 1906; ii; 117). He is named in his father's will as the eldest son. He was the administrator of his mother's estate, 1611-12, and is referred to in the will of his brother Francis Barne, dated 1629, as then deceased. He received the grant of a market at Woolwich 1 June, 1618. He subscribed and paid his subscription of £37-10-0 to the Second Virginia Company (Brown's Genesis, p. 825). He died at Woolwich, 7 May, 1619, where an inquisition post mortem was taken, 22 October, 1619. Neither his will nor administration has been found. He married, about 1586, Anne Sandys, the daughter of Edwin Sandys, D. D., Archbishop of York in the reign of Elizabeth, by his second wife Cecily, daughter of Sir Thomas Wilsford [Wilsford] of Cranbrook, Kent, knight. Sketches of the Sandys and Wilsford families will follow in a later paper. The family bible of the Archbishop shows that Anne Sandys was born 21 June, 1570 (Brown's Genesis, 992). The agreement of marriage was dated 11 May, 1586 (see inquisition post mortem of Sir George Barne<sup>3</sup> ante). The monument in the Woodham Ferrers church to her mother Cecily Sandys, which enumerates the latter's nine children, refers to her as "Ann her 2nd daughter married to Sir William Barn of Woolwich". After the death of the first husband in 1619, she married sometime prior to 25 August, 1625, Edward Poulter, esq., of Bradfield, Herts, whom she also outlived. The will of Edward Poulter, esq. of Bradfield, Herts, dated 25 August, 1625, and proved 2 May, 1626, in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury (Hele; 60) is lengthy document from which only a few quotations need be made here. He directs that he be buried in Coltered chancel with an "inscription to be graven in quere brass".

He refers to his first wife Mary Litton of Knebworth by whom he had seven sons and four daughters. He provides that "Arthur Pulter, my grandson and heir shall suffer Anne, Lady Barne, wife of me the said Edward, peaceably to enjoy for the term of the said lady's life, one copyhold close of pasture called Stockins in Wymondley Magna, according to the time, intent, and meaning of the book of indenture of covenants, made touching the marriage of Litton Pulter, gent., son and heir of me the said Edward, and father of the said Arthur, and for provision of jointure for a second wife of the said Edward". The widow was living 23 May, 1629, when she is named in the will of Francis Barne<sup>4</sup> as "Ould Lady Barne, my sister in law" (see ante). She apparently returned to Woolwich to end her days, for her estate was administered upon 10 February, 1629[-30] when a "commission was issued to Robert Barne [upon the estate of] Dame Anne Barne, late of the parish of Woolwich, co. Kent, widow, deceased to administer the goods, etc. of the said deceased." (Prerogative Court of Canterbury Administrations, 1630). It is interesting to note that in both of the above documents, the custom of the day is followed in referring to the woman, if she had been married more than once, by the name of the husband having the highest rank, and not by the name of her last husband, if he were of inferior rank.

The inquisition post mortem upon the estate of Sir William Barne<sup>4</sup>, recently secured by the writer from the Chancery records, in the absence of a will, is of special interest:

Inquisition taken at East Greenwich, co. Kent, 22 October, 17 James [1619] upon the estate of Sir William Barne Kt. The jury says that the said Sir William was seised of the manor of Acon in Plumstead, a capital messuage called "le Towerplace" in Woolwich, of various messuages and lands in Plumstead and Bexley in the occupation of divers (specified) tenants, and of the manor of Calthorpe, co. Lincoln. All these premises he settled (under a fine levied in accordance with the terms of an indenture dated 10 Oct. 16 James I) on the marriage to be solemnized between Sir William Barne, Kt., his son and heir apparent, and Dorothy Manwood, second daughter of Sir Peter Manwood, Knight of the Bath; contingent remainders were thereby reserved in tail male for his other sons Robert, Thomas, Miles, John and George Barne. This marriage was afterwards celebrated. Anne, widow of Sir William in the writ named, is still living at Woolwich. Sir William died there 7 May, 17 James [1619]. Sir William Barne, his son and heir is aged 26 and more. (Chancery Inquisition Post-mortem, Series ii, Vol. 421, No. 121).

1. Sir William Barne<sup>5</sup> of Woolwich. Knighted at Greenwich 29 June, 1618. Aged 26, 7 May, 1619. Living and married before 16 May, 1632, when he is named in his sister Anne Lovelace's will. Married Dorothy Manwood, daughter of Sir Peter Manwood of St. Stephens, Canterbury, K. B., by Francis, daughter of Sir John Harte. Issue four sons. See also Visitation of Kent, 1619 (Harl. Soc. lxii; 144).
2. Robert Barne<sup>5</sup> of Great Grimsby, Lincoln. Married prior to 16 May, 1632, Elizabeth Twisden daughter of Thomas Twisden of Wye, Kent. Issue eight children.
3. Thomas Barne<sup>5</sup> of Woolwich. Died unmarried, and estate administered 24 March, 1629-30.

5. John Barne<sup>5</sup>. Died before 22 February, 1630-1. (Married Mildred —).
6. George Barne<sup>5</sup>. Living and married 16 May, 1632.
7. Anne Barne<sup>5</sup>. Born about 1590. Died 1633. Married 1st Sir William Lovelace, the younger; married 2nd Dr. Jonathan Browne. See post V.

V. Anne Barne<sup>5</sup> (George<sup>1</sup>, George<sup>2</sup>, George<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>4</sup>). She was apparently born between 1587 and 1592. She is named in the will of her uncle Francis Barne, dated 1629, as "my neece my Lady Lovelasse" to whom he leaves forty shillings for a ring (see ante). She married first, apparently about 1610, Sir William Lovelace, the younger, knight, of Bethersden and Woolwich, Kent, the son of Sir William Lovelace, the elder, knight, of Bethersden, and his wife Elizabeth Aucher, by whom she had issue five sons and three daughters, Richard Lovelace the poet, Thomas Lovelace, Francis Lovelace, governor of New York, William Lovelace, Dudley Lovelace, Anne Lovelace married the Rev. John Gorsuch, Joana Lovelace married Robert Caesar, and Elizabeth Lovelace married Daniel Hayne. Sir William Lovelace died 12 August, 1627. His widow Anne (Barne) Lovelace married secondly Dr. Jonathan Browne. Crisp gives the date of this marriage as 20 January, 1630, and says that the marriage took place at Greenwich (Visitation of England and Wales; Notes; vii; 121-9). By her second husband she had a daughter Anne Browne who married prior to 8 April, 1645, Herbert Crofte, S. T. P. and D. D. Dr. Jonathan Browne was dean of Hereford in 1636 and canon of Westminster in 1639. He died December, 1643. His will was proved 8 April, 1645 (Prerogative Court of Canterbury; Oxford Wills, 1645). Her will probated as "Dame Lovelace now the wife of Jonathan Browne of London, Doctor of Laws", dated 15 May, 1632, and proved 22 May, 1633, and additional details in regard to her and her second husband have been printed in a previous paper (Va. Mag. xxviii; 176-182). In this will the testatrix mentions her brothers Miles Barne, Sir William Barne, knight, Robert Barne, and George Barne, appointing the latter one of her executors, and referring to the wives of the last three named brothers. Full sketches of Sir William Lovelace, the younger, knight, his wife Anne Barne, and their several children, have already appeared in previous numbers of the Virginia Magazine (ibid. 176-187).
